Before the order begins, the customer can view up to five different programmable high-resolution POP graphics. These POPs are an excellent marketing tool for sales, limited-time promotions, new products and more. They are a cost effective way to promote test items at each location.

Order Screen
When the order taker strikes a key on your register, our system opens the order screen.

Customers see their special grill order highlighted in red text for easy customer verification.

Our software translates your POS short codes into 25-character text descriptors so customers can see their order as it is placed

Along with the text descriptor, item pictures are displayed. This feature can be used to visually confirm item orders.

Total Screen
The Suggestive Sell & Total screen automatically appears when the order is totaled. This lets the customer know his total and allows marketing opportunities at the point of purchase.

The grand total is clearly displayed for the customer, enabling him to have payment ready when reaching the service window.

Patented by manufacturer

Order display area will show up to 23 lines of text without scrolling so large orders can be view completely.

Individual item pricing is optional.

Total and tax are clearly displayed to enable customers to verify their order.

Programmable scrolling message.

When the order is totaled, our software scans the order and automatically suggest a "forgotten" item with text and graphics.

The Total screen displays a text message persuading customers to add to their order, which can coordinate with the displayed graphic or display a unique message.
